

52% of millennials say that their savings on hand have declined since the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic

44% of millennials cite they have either no savings (17%) or not enough savings to cover a $400 emergency expense (27%)

29% of millennials with only a high school education say they have no savings at all

The lack of savings is seen as a long-term obstacle as the data also reveals that only about a third (35%) of millennials feel like they are on the right track to meet their retirement goals.

35%

33%

About one-third (33%) of millennials believe they will need to work into their 70s.

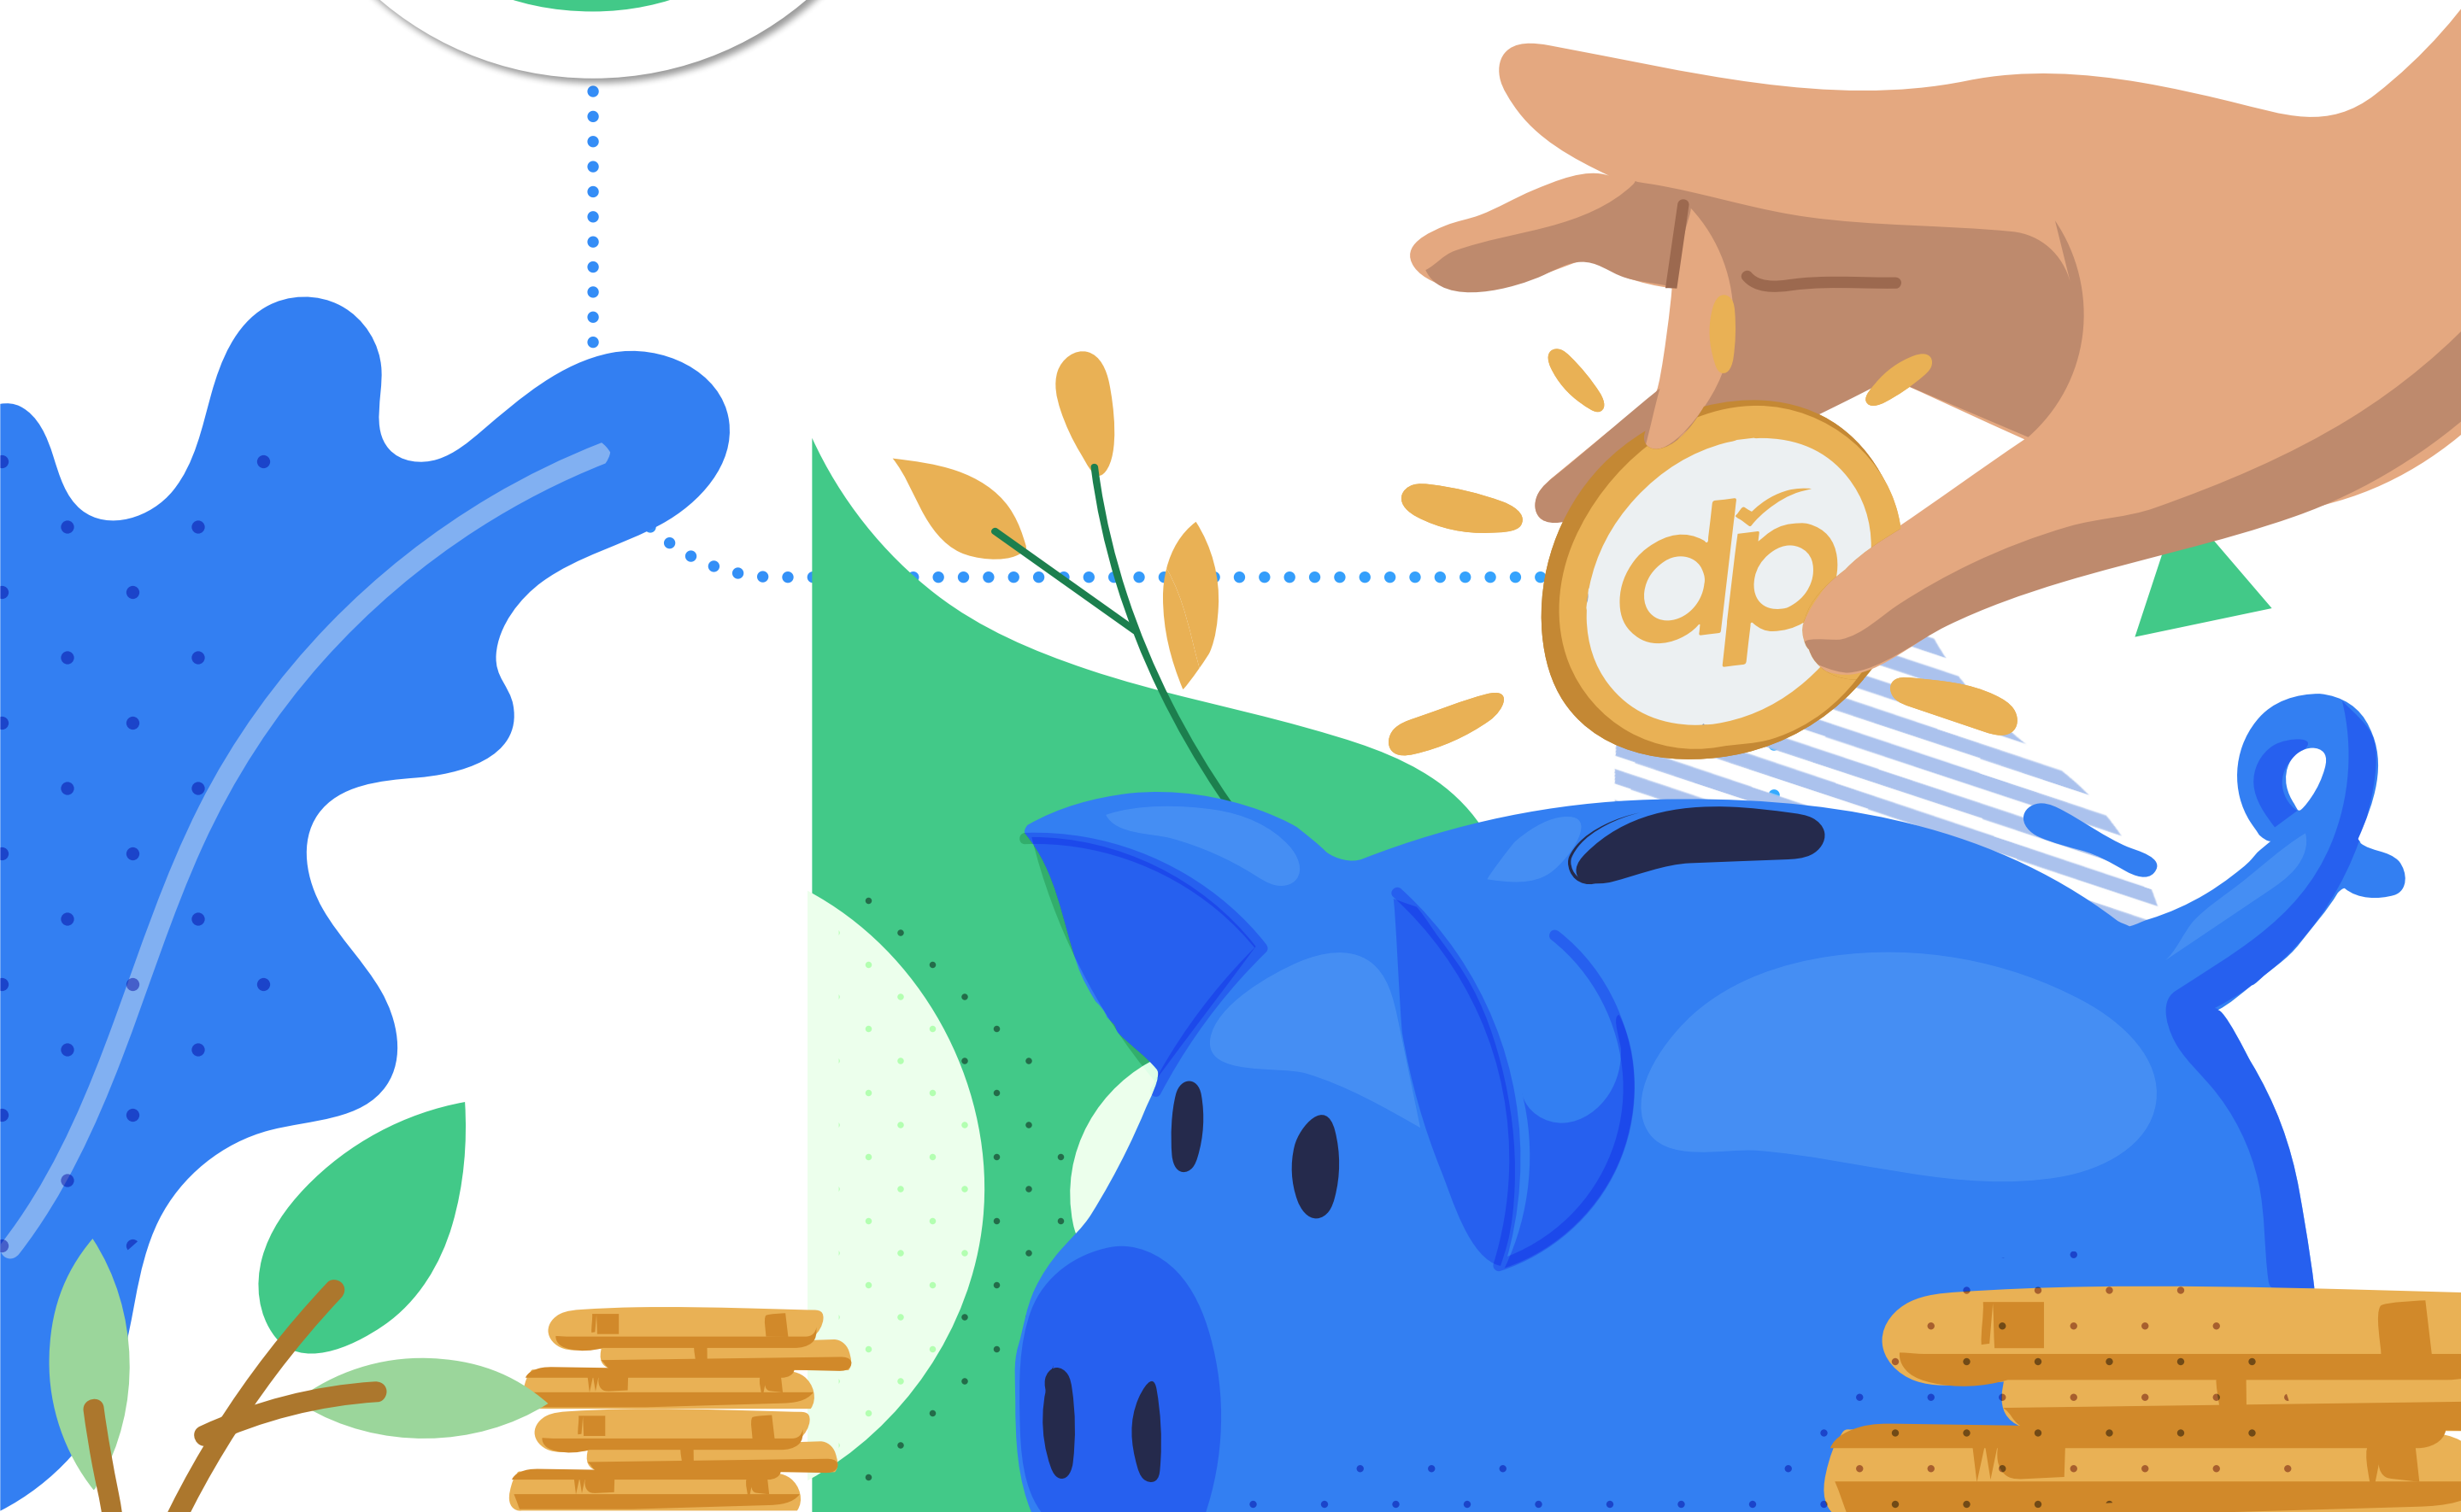

61% of millennials either have a savings account or money in the stock market.

64% of millennials work for an employer that offers a savings/retirement program.

57% of millennials either currently owe or have previously paid off student loans.

57%

66% of millennials support either full or partial federal student loan forgiveness.

